THANX!!!

This is the word we wanted to stick out in this second issue of French Kiss Comix. This word and this word only because when we started this project, we did it with the high hopes that there would be a readership interested in great erotic comics. A readership that would appreciate more like Kevin Taylor or Susi Glamour, who despite their unquestionable talent, haven't gotten the reception in the States that they deserve yet. And artists artists from all over the world like Chitoji, from Japan, and Ferocius, from Chile, have proven that we were right from the very first issue, that you're the readers we've been looking for, and that you do know what's good. For that we've got to say this one more time, and as many times as we need to, thank you for the warm welcome, for your letters, for your e-mails. As enthusiastic as we were, we couldn't have even imagined how well you received us.

You can rest assured that all the support you've given us since the beginning won't be taken for granted and that in the future, things will only get better. Consider this message a solid promise that we'll keep on featuring work from all the artists you like, and as the circulation will continue our ceaseless search for new artists to make's debut to publish in America. But don't just take our word for it. See for yourselves. All we've got to do is turn the page.

by Ferocius

Nacre Point is part of a small, exclusive banana republic, most of whose inhabitants are wealthy Americans with nothing else to do but to take advantage of the paradisiacal surroundings and the local laws, created to benefit the rich tourists. The poor local girls are also part of the benefits they enjoy. Pearl is one of these young ladies. She's involved with Tim Railton, a painter whom she butters up and whose fantasies she helps bring to life. But she's also just met Byron Kerr, one of the aforementioned wealthy residents with whom she had a torrid sexual encounter on the beach. And it's this steamy first meeting that Byron can't get out of his head. Even when he's in bed with his girlfriend, Pearl keeps popping up, over and over again, in his mind.

What gets you going?

Do you read comics or long texts? When and where? Which author do you love and which one do you love to hate? What do you like most about our magazine? French kiss needs you. We need your opinions, we'd like to know what you think about everything on our pages, we'd like your thumbs up on our magazine's bottom part and you sounds down on the parts you don't like. So it's up to you, write us, tell us what you think, and you're more welcome on the creation of our Spanish pages, and of course. Because only we know what we need and only we can give it to you. But your participation to your good relationship is the establishment and maintenance of open, honest discussion, and we're proud of that. Because we've set up a web page for this magazine just for your opinions, your friends, and everyone else who wants to give a shout out. Because it costs virtually nothing to surf on your computer and send us a few lines that you're already here reading it. Because you really are reading.
